BEAVER VALLEY.

A Glimpse at Rochester's Activities.

THE PICTURESQUE BEAUTY OF THE TOWN.

Its Advantages for Manufacturing Purposes.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]
[Letter No. 10.]

The Rochester of To-day

is a pleasantly situated borough of over 2,000 inhabitants, and in point of location, the varied character of its scenery, and advantageous location for business, is unexcelled. The older and more business portion of the town is located on a flat forming the banks of the Ohio river and skirting at points on the Beaver river. Here the manufactories and shops are found making music by their incessant activity and the buzz and hum of the machinery. Running back from the river, are the hill sides, upon which are built the homes, churches, etc., well out of the rush and bustle of the business marts. As already mentioned, the town presents from the elevated points of Beaver, a scene singularly beautiful. The picturesqueness of its scenery is finely supplemented by the tasty and really beautiful little homes that cover the hill sides. From portions of Rochester, some very fine scenes are afforded and will repay the trip to see them. Quite an interesting view is presented up the Beaver valley, with its quaint, old-fashioned houses set in among the more modern, and the winding course of the river with its old bridges and busy manufactories. A good view is also had of the space of country across and up the Ohio, and in every direction, the scenery is overshadowed and guarded by the beautiful hills, and the waters beside them. As already intimated, the business of Rochester is quite extensive, indeed much more so than shown on the surface by the number of business houses. The part of the town most easily utilized for business purposes, in factories, stores, &c., is taken up with the two lines of railroad running through it. Taking first the shops and factories, there are presented to us two wagon shops, owned by Wallace and Boyd & Shaw respectively; Ernest Degin's candle and soap factory, already favorably known to the trade; Henry Lapp's furniture shop; W. H. Marshall's marble shop and James Whitefield's sash and door factory. In mills we have Oatman & Co.'s steam saw mill and three first-class planing mills belonging to M. Miller & Co., Miller & Farrand, and Scott, Boyle & Williams. These several industries seem to be doing a thriving business, and add much to the activity and trade of the town, giving employment to several hands, and, in their line, turning out goods of first-class quality.

The Larger Manufactories.

In addition to these there are three manufactories of a larger scale in operation. The foundry of J. J. Anderson & Co., employing now some eight hands, is doing a very fine business, principally in railroad castings, etc. This establishment was removed from Bridgewater in the year 1865, then owned by J. J. Anderson & Sons, since which time Captain J. K. Buckley and James Homiley, Esq., have joined it. The "Superior Coffin and Burial Casket Works" were established in the year 1871, and are now in the hands of Messrs. Algeo, Scott & Co. They are doing a large business in their line, making walnut, rosewood and imitation rosewood coffins and caskets of a very superior quality. They make about 350 coffins and caskets per week, and have in employ seventy-six hands. "The Rochester Tumbler Company" is doing also quite an extensive business in making all kinds of tumblers for table, bar use and jelly tumblers. They make as fine quality, both as regards workmanship and quality of metal, as is made in the country. Their works are well and substantially constructed, and very convenient in all respects. The works are well supplied by water from the Ohio river by a pump, which throws sixty gallons of water per minute, and are well prepared for emergencies. They have a well of drinking water in the works, which is claimed to be a very superior mineral water, and possessing great medicinal properties. Seventy-five hands are employed. These three works alone are quite an addition to the town, and, doing as large a business as they are, add very materially to the prosperity of the place, and open the way for other works and factories.

Pendleton Bro. & Co. have quite an extensive fire brick works and turn out a first class article. The National Plow Manufactory, now quiet, at one time did an extensive business, but has for some time been suspended. There are twenty-five stores in the town, running from the modest cake shop to the largest of dry goods establishments. It is not supposable that any additions in this line are needed.

Among the very best of the stores, we notice that of which Hon. S. J. Cross is a partner. Mr. Cross, recently elected to the Legislature from this county, has been largely instrumental in promoting the interests of his home town. He has been actively engaged in business here for some years, has done much to advance the interests of the town and deserves well at the hands of our people. Several hotels are in full blast in the town, but none of as good class as Rochester ought to have. They may be well conducted, but the principal ones are dingy looking affairs, and rather repulse than attract travelers. Judging from the business done by the number in existence, there certainly is room for a first class house, which should receive large patronage. Two banking houses are prospering, one under the proprietorship of Messrs. Jno. Conway & Co., which has not long been in existence, and the other Messrs. Speyerer & McDonald, carried on by H. J. Speyerer, Cashier, a very clever young gentleman, who will no doubt make the house a success.

Professional and Spiritual.

The professions are well represented by gentlemen and ladies of culture and skill in their callings. Miss S. Platt, of New Brighton, is the professional at the head of the public schools, and under her superintendence it is a success in every way. The school edifice is a credit to the people, and meets the present wants for the educational training of the youth. Among the churches we have the Episcopal, M. E. German, Lutheran, First German Evangelical Lutheran and Methodist Episcopal, each endeavoring to gain a permanent hold on the hearts of the people. They deserve success, and it is to be hoped will succeed in expelling the evils that curse the town and are a barrier to its real substantial progress and growth. I think that it may be truthfully said of this town, that it is an energetic, busy, aggressive one, and is not likely to go backwards in any of its enterprises. Its residences are on the whole good, and will compare favorably with other towns of like size. There does not seem to be much attempt at architectural display or finished work. In the region of the station house, many of the buildings are positively disgraceful to a town of as much "get up" as there is in this one. There is no good reason why some of the squalid, dirty looking shanties about should remain so. More imposing and finer looking structures would add to the beauty of the street, and at the same time be of more benefit to the owners. Water street presents a better appearance in the line of creditable dwellings and business houses, and has no reason to be ashamed of many of the houses.

The hill and slopes probably have the best class of clean, well-shaped houses. As soon as the line of the railroad is left, there is an improvement observable. But the enterprise and spirit of the place will not long be content with a poor class of houses, and improvements may be expected as the business increases. There is much available space for beautiful home sites, and that, too, out of the smoke and dust along the railroads. There is also ample room for a large number of factories along the line of the river. There is no water-power, but there are all needed facilities for the use of steam. Business may be established here that will give employment to hundreds more of men and women, who would be an honor to the town. A new station-house is certainly needed. The low, old murky-looking affair that now answers for that purpose, has long ago seen its day. It is positively a disgrace, a blot on the fair features of the town, and ought to be removed and a new one built. With new and commodious railroad buildings, it may be that property-holders would be incited to renovate and improve their own property. The improvement of the whole of Railroad street, by the railroads and citizens, is urgently needed to make fair a very finely located part of the town.

The Advantages of Rochester.

Rochester has the elements to make a large and prosperous river town. The railroad facilities are unexcelled, leading into four different parts of the country westward and northward, beside the direct connection with Pittsburgh. The Ohio river gives a good outlet to the South, thus placing the town in easy reach of the best parts of our country. Running westward there is a large scope of territory that has no outlet except by railroad travel for several miles, and then to reach the lower ports or eastward must pass through Rochester. Why Rochester and contiguous valley towns do not control the business in this fine section of country must ever remain a wonder. On the line of the railroad to Erie, New Castle, only twenty miles distant, has grown to be a city, and is rapidly increasing. She has large iron mills, and men who are not afraid to give vent to their energy. It is hard to see wherein New Castle has a tithe of the advantages that Rochester has, and yet one is a city and the other very far from it. In all the points that make material progress, they are found here. It is true there is not the advantage of ores immediately at hand, but there is, on the other hand, all facilities for getting it if needed. Fuel is cheap—need not cost more than the same quality in the city of Pittsburgh—and, added to this, there is a good and constantly increasing market for all kinds of manufactured goods, and there is no reason why we should look to other places to supply us.

On of Rochester's greatest needs is the improvement of the Ohio river navigation. It is entirely too uncertain as it is to make a reliable route for traffic and travel. With proper improvements, it is easily seen that the town would control a large extent of country in its river business. There is no other point in Beaver county, or at any other place, where the port would be convenient for the counties north and west of us, which are now entered by the lines of railroad north and west.

But probably Rochester's greatest need is a class of more energetic business men and capital.

There are some enterprising men in the town, men who have worked hard and will work hard in the future for the advancement of their town, but the number is not large enough to meet the wants of the place. Put on those flats and hills the men and capital that other towns not far off have, and it would eclipse anything that the valley has ever seen. In saying in this letter what has been noted down, it is not to be supposed that a fraction of what Rochester is and may be has been touched or spoken of. To say all that could be said, would trespass the limits of a few letters, but opportunity may be had again, to speak of one other pressing want of the town, which cannot here be dwelt upon, and that is its consolidation with others of its neighbor towns. BEAVER.

CORRESPONDENCE.

One of Braddock's Mile Stones.

A stone situated several hundred yards south of Frostburg is an object of historic interest. With much reason it is reputed to have been erected in this locality by Braddock's army, as marking the first day's march from Fort Cumberland to Fort Du Quesne. It is legibly inscribed in letters which clearly evince the style of English typography prevalent in that period. Upon its northern face it bears a sentiment significant more of patriotic determination than the result tells of the execution of that memorable march:

"Our Country's Rights We Will Defend!"

On the opposite or south side are these sentences:

"11 Miles to Fort Cumberland!"

"29 Miles to Capt. Smyth's Inn and Bridge—Big Crossings."

"The Best Road to Red Stone."

"Old Fort, 64 Miles."

This stone, it is presumed, stands as it was erected by Braddock's men, marking at its location at least the exact route pursued. No trace, however, of that route is visible; the ground is thickly studded with undergrowth, and the surface shows no evidence of having been beaten by the march of regiments or the roll of artillery and other army carriages. The stone itself exhibits some marks of the curiosty hunter's hammer, but not enough to deface it materially. The inscriptions are easily read—the single one upon the northern and first upon the southern face—if we may presume again—being cut upon the advance, the remaining ones upon the retreat of the army. This circumstance, we may say, writes the history of the campaign. Flushed with pride and assured of success by the splendid martial array presented, some soldier engraved the patriotic sentiment upon this "table of stone." On the other side he placed all he then knew of this hitherto untraveled route—"11 miles to Fort Cumberland." Returning he had nought to add to "Our Country's Right's We Will Defend." Below this a solemn blank expresses how solemn was the defeat. The wonder is he did not efface entirely the motto of advance.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

The above notice, from the Frostburg (Md.) Journal, was extensively copied by the papers in this country last winter. It is now going the rounds of the English and French journals, and is a fair illustration of the old proverb, "Error will travel a league while truth is putting on her boots."

Very little reflection is necessary to convince the reader that the stone was placed there long after Braddock's disastrous campaign in 1755. "The best road to Redstone, Old Fort, sixty-four miles," proves very clearly that it was erected after the road to Redstone was opened. Now, it is necessary to recollect that Braddock did not move by way of Bedstone, for, after leaving Fort Necessity, he turned almost directly north, and passed by Dunbar's camp to Stewart's Crossing (Connellsville), thence to Mount Pleasant, &c., leaving Redstone miles to his left. And it was not until 1759, the year after Forbe's successful expedition, that the State sent Col. Burd with two hundred men to cut a road from Braddock's road to the Monongahela river. In executing his orders he diverged from Braddock's road at Jist's plantation (now known as the Meason place), and struck the river at Redstone. These facts make it certain that the stone was not the work of Braddock's army. What, then, was its origin? "The best road to Redstone, Old Fort" implies a choice of roads—two roads at least—at the time the stone was erected. The choice implied was undoubtedly between Braddock's and the National road, which passes through Frostburg. If this conjecture is correct, it follows that the stone was not placed there until the National road was opened, or nearly opened, from Cumberland to Brownsville, say about 1812 to 1815; that was during the last war with England. The inscription, "Our country's rights we will defend," was a favorite motto during that war, a fact that confirms this opinion.

It is hardly necessary to add that "Capt. Smyth's Inn and Bridge" did not exist in 1755.

Addresses Before the Constitutional Convention.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Among the many bands of reformers which have characterized this reforming age, none has been more earnest, zealous or hopeful than that one now laboring for the religious amendment of the Constitution; and among the arguments presented by them, none have been stronger than those delivered in the Hall of the Constitutional Convention, in Philadelphia, on the evening of March 24, 1873, by John Alexander, Esq., and Rev. T. P. Stevenson.

Mr. Alexander is chairman of the committee appointed by the late National Convention, at New York, to present its petition, and that of many citizens of Pennsylvania, to the Constitutional Convention of this State, to incorporate into the instrument they are framing, an acknowledgment of God as the author of human rights, of Christ as the governor of nations, and the Bible as the fountain of law. The appointment was appropriate, as he was a member of the first convention held in Pittsburgh in 1864, to procure such an amendment of the United States Constitution, and one of the committee to wait on President Lincoln and Congress, to further their object, and has such faith in ultimate success that he has pledged himself and heirs to pay five hundred dollars annually for this object until it is accomplished.

Mr. Alexander is one of Pittsburgh's boys, of whom she has reason to be proud. He began life here in a cabinet maker shop, and though he now counts his wealth by millions, he is especially proud of the Secretary he made himself, for he boasts that, although he was a poor boy, he never was a poor workman. This able address would lose nothing by his crowning, silver white hair, his look of a long and well-spent life, and a personal appearance strongly marked by that quiet, self-respect which none are apt to inherit from an ancestry who have a record of that true nobility which placed them on the right side in the old struggle between freedom and despotism, and made them heroes in the fight. His zeal for Protestant reformation can be relied upon, for it has been running in the blood since the days of John Knox; and, in his address on this occasion, it was zeal according to knowledge.

Mr. Stevenson is the editor of the Christian Statesman, a man still young, but full of promise of effective work in that field in which the harvest is so great and the laborers few.

The two addresses have been published in neat pamphlet form, and I suppose could be procured gratuitously; but those who want to know the object of "this sect everywhere spoken against," should inclose a small sum to The Christian Statesman, 38 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia, and get one or more copies, read for themselves, and decide what reason there may be, if any, why the extreme sentence of the law should not be passed on the miserable offenders who want to put a conscience into politics, and to persuade folks that the God who made this Universe, is Lord, not only of the Sabbath, but of the sacred, second Tuesday of November.

JANE G. SWISSHELM.

ZOZONIA, April 24, 1873.

A "Strong" Article.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

TITUSVILLE, April 26, 1873.

I visit Pittsburgh occasionally, and in genera I like the place. I am somewhat posted concerning your local characteristics, and those things your people claim as natural advantages and meritorious points. Your vast production of iron and its comparative strength, as proven in various competitions and governmental tests, has been mentioned to me frequently by those concerned, and with whom I have come in contact. When speaking of your city's financial facilities and banking institutions, your citizens never fail to speak of the latter as sound and strong. The papers, in chronicling a parade or turn-out of your local military organizations, never fail to make mention of each company or battalion's strength. Your local politicians of the predominating party, when seeking Government favor, claim it on the basis of their personal strength in influencing the party strength to a successful issue. A suit of clothes purchased while in your city was handed over to me accompanied by the guarantee that I would find them "good and strong." Your "old Monongahela," I have been told by those who indulge in it, has a national reputation for the same quality; but when informed on this point, the information is generally further given, that you are a people of great moral strength, as shown by the number of churches and your Sabbath observance. The element of strength, then, I find, distinguishes your iron, your banking institutions, your military organizations, your politics, your dry goods, your whisky and your morals; and I here assert and complain, that it permeates the atmosphere in a manner that "is rank and smells to heaven." Does force of habit or association lead you to suppose that this quality, so essential in many things, is a pleasant or necessary element of the butter you use?

You are surrounded by a productive rural district, and hence easy communication by railroads and rivers; certainly, then, at this season of the year at any rate, there should be no difficulty in getting a good article of butter. One might suppose that the qualifications necessary in the persons who buy butter for some of your tables, and those who purchase pig iron for your mills, are the same, namely: that their judgment must be infallible in both cases concerning the strength of the commodity to be purchased.

My allusion to this last named exhibition of strength in your city, was suggested by my experience for two days, of the strong butter with which the guests were served at one of your best hotels in a central part of the city, a large, well kept and otherwise first class hotel.

WASHINGTON, April 30, 1873.

Irregularities of the Vienna Commissioners.

A telegram has been received from the Special Commission at Vienna, appointed by the President to examine into the alleged irregularities of the original commission, to the effect that some of the suspended commissioners appear to be implicated in the charges of improperly receiving money. It leaves the following persons free from the charge of any irregularity, viz.: Dr. Anthony Ruppauer, Thomas McElrath, Lewis Seasongood, J. C. Botten, G. L. Blodgett, H. Garretson, Edward Gotthiel, Clayton McMichael, Isaac Cook, A. G. James, and William F. Round. They recommend that no part of the suspended commission be restored at present.

It is understood that the result of the examination and grounds on which its recommendation is founded are to be immediately forwarded.

The Lava Beds Disaster.

General Sherman is very much depressed by the disaster at the Lava Beds on Saturday. The father of Captain Evan Thomas, who was killed, called at the War Department this morning, and had an interview with General Sherman. General Thomas, who is on the retired list, and quite advanced in years, is deeply affected by the bereavment. He has telegraphed to Schofield to have the body of his son forwarded to Washington for interment. It is not known what disposition will be made of the bodies of the other officers killed; but unless otherwise ordered by their friends, they will be buried at Yreka, as the Government does not consider itself responsible for the interment of officers of the army; but every assistance will be rendered the friends of those killed in getting their bodies from the Lava Beds, and forwarded according to direction. General Sherman says if reinforcements are deemed necessary at the Lava Beds, they will be withdrawn from the Pacific coast under direction of General Schofield. Lieutenant Arthur Cranston, of Battery A, 4th Artillery, who is reported missing, is brother-in-law to Col. Morton, of Sherman's staff, and a few years since married Miss Bacon, of this city. His friends in Washington fear the worst, as the very latest from the battle-field reported him as still missing.

Internal Revenue Receipts for April.

The total internal revenue receipts for the month ending to-day were $7,566,490. The total receipts for May, 1872, were $10,190,175. The total receipts from all sources for the first four months in 1872 were $41,045,936, and for the first four months of the present year $32,094,609. There seems to be no doubt that the estimated receipts for the present fiscal year, viz., $110,000,000, will be fully realized. The receipts already amount to over $93,000,000, with two months remaining of the fiscal year.

Commissioner Douglass is in daily receipt of estimates from collectors of internal revenue for the expenses of collecting the revenue under the new law going into effect on the 20th of May. The present indications are that the saving anticipated under the new system will be fully realized. That is not less than one million dollars per annum.

The Civil Service Board.

Hon. Dorman B. Eaton, of New York, having accepted the appointment as a member of the Civil Service Commission, the only vacancy remaining is the position tendered the Hon. Samuel Shellabarger, of Ohio, who, it is understood, will accept it very soon. Directly after the organization of the Commission the rules prescribed by its predecessor will be revised. Notwithstanding assertions to the contrary the revision will undoubtedly embrace a provision giving wider latitude to the authority of the heads of Departments in the selection of their subordinates.

How Postal Cards can be Used a Second Time.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General decides that postal cards that have been once properly transmitted through the mail and the stamp thereon cancelled can, after their being returned to the sender in a sealed envelope with a remittance, be re-transmitted to the person originally addressed, with the word "Paid" stamped or endorsed thereon by placing upon the card a one cent adhesive stamp. The Postmaster General decides that no discount can be allowed to purchasers or agents who desire to keep postal cards on hand for sale to the public.

Obituary.

Hon. James Brooks, Representative to Congress from New York, died at his residence in this city to-night at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of his family. He recognized those around him to the very last moment. He had long been in feeble health from, as he himself frequently said, the effects of fever which he contracted in Asia. The deceased was in his sixty-third year. His death has created profound sorrow in all circles of the community.

The Labor Question.

John W. Browning, of New York city, has been appointed and commissioned executive officer for the State of New York by A. E. Redstone, President of the National Labor Council at Washington, D. C. There will soon appear an official authorized statement of the labor movement by Hon. John Pool, of North Carolina, Chairman of the National Executive Committee of the United Workingmen of America.

The Duty on Rubber Boots.

The Secretary of the Treasury decides that rubber boots with felted lining, composed in part of wool, are not subject to the duty on wearing apparel composed of wool, imposed under the act of March 2d, 1867, but are subject to a duty as rubber boots, which is thirty per cent. under the act of August 5th, 1861, with ten per cent. reduction under the act of June 6th, 1872.

Promenade in Inauguration Hall.

A grand promenade concert under the auspices of the Marquise de Noailless, Mrs. General Sherman, Mrs. Senator Casserly, and the other ladies, both Catholic and Protestant, for the benefit of the Home of the Aged, is arranged for the evening of the 6th prox. It is to be given in Inauguration Hall, and will be the last levee held in that building, which is to be torn down immediately after.

A Depository Closed.

On account of irregularities in the United States Depository at Mobile, Secretary Richardson has decided to close that office, and hereafter the business at that point will be discharged by the Assistant Treasurer at New Orleans.

CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, April 20.—The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce on the Louisville and Portland Canal reported to-day the results of their visit to the directors of the canal, from which it appears that up to the 11th inst. they had received no official notice of the passage of a law authorizing the United State to assume the control and management of the canal, and that they were ready to surrender their trust on full compliance of the general Government with the act of the Kentucky Legislature authorizing the same, which act contemplated the actual payment of the debt. In the event of the bondholders declining to give up the bonds not yet due, they would consent to disregard this technicality, and still transfer the property. In view of these circumstances, the Committee recommended a resolution inviting the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury to the act authorizing the transfer and urging him to carry the law into effect at the earliest possible moment.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A Rio Janeiro letter gives the particulars of the loss of the French steamer Gambie, which left that port on March 24th, bound for Bordeaux. Like the steamer Atlantic, her officers can only account for her going ashore on the hypothesis that wind had been prevailing for many days strong and steady from the south and southwest, which occasioned a slight increase of the coast current, of which sufficient notice was not taken, and as the night was thick and stormy it was impossible to see any distance ahead; but the wreck of the Gambie differed from the Atlantic in this, that not one of the great number of passengers on board was lost.

The vessel was due at Bahaia on the 26th, and at two o'clock on the morning of the 27th she went on a reef known as the Jova Rocks. As the passengers were all asleep in their rooms, the sudden blow to the steamer awoke them, and occasioned the greatest confusion and alarm. The prompt decision and conduct of the officers, however, served in a great measure to allay the excitement. The vessel's launches were lowered and manned, and by six o'clock in the morning the passengers had all been safely landed at the town of Abrantes.

THE MODOC WAR.

Official Dispatch from Gen. Schofield.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—General Sherman today received the annexed dispatch from General Schofield;

LAVA BEDS, April 28.—On the 26th, Major Green, commanding the camp on the west side of the Lava Beds, ordered Captain Thomas, of the Fourth Artillery, and a party of Warm Spring Indians, about seventy soldiers and fourteen Indians, to make a reconnoissance in a southeasterly direction to a point about four miles from camp. The party left camp about twelve o'clock, noon, reached the designated point and were resting, no Indians having been seen. Suddenly the party was fired upon by Indians, when upon searching in the lava chasms the bodies of Captain Thomas and Lieutenant A. P. Howe, of the Fourth Artillery, and Lieutenant Thomas F. Wright, of the Twelfth Infantry, were found. First Lieutenant Arthur Cranston, of the Fourth Artillery, has not been found. It is supposed that he was killed. Lieutenant Geo. M. Harris, and Acting Assistant Surgeon B. Semig, were seriously, though I hope not dangerously, wounded. Thirteen enlisted men were killed and wounded. All the officers and part of the men remained together and fought like heroes, but the Indians had secured the advantage of the position before being discovered. The remains of the officers will be taken to Yreka to-morrow. The bodies of four warriors have been found at or near the scene of battle. Captain Mendenhall reports from Burlettsville, and is expected to join on the 30th. The Indians occupy a position in the rocks about four miles south of their caves, and it will be impossible to surround them with the force on hand, or those en route to this place. The circumference of the lava beds is about thirty miles. General Davis is expected to be here to-morrow. Alvah Gillem and General Davis started from Yreka for the Lava Beds this morning.

ST. LOUIS.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad to be Sold.

ST. LOUIS, MO., April 30.—In 1868 the Legislature of this State passed an act releasing the State lien on the Missouri Pacific and North Missouri Railroads, and the former was sold to stockholders for five million dollars. The full amount of the lien was thirteen million last month, as reported at the time. The present Legislature, by resolution, asked Attorney General Ewing for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the act under which the State lien was released. That officer replied that it violated the Constitution. In order to settle the matter, it has been agreed by all parties interested that Governor Woodson shall advertise the road for sale to satisfy the balance of the State lien of eight millions, and the railroad company will apply to the Supreme Court for an injunction to restrain the sale, and a full hearing of the case will be had. The order of the sale will be made to-morrow or Friday.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 30, 1873. }

There are always to be found two classes in the community—the grumblers and the hopeful, and it is often the case that as we may belong to the one or the other class, our eyes may be blinded to the true merits of a subject under consideration, and especially may this be true in regard to our financial future. If we are grumblers, we may always see disaster ahead, with no hope of recovery for the country; or if we are of the always hopeful class, we can see nothing in the future but uninterrupted success, unchecked by a single disaster. Both of these positions are in error, because they are opposite extremes. The proper plan is to look on both sides of the question—contrasting the dark with the bright sides of the subject, and thus to arrive at correct and reliable conclusions. In this view of affairs, do we ask the very important question "Is there a financial crisis approaching?" In various directions do we hear comments and predictions that before long there will be a panic and a general unsettling of values, and these predictions are made by practical business men who indulge in no fancy theories, but reason only from facts. We are informed that in mercantile circles, business is not satisfactory and far from what it ought to be. True, our country is a growing one, and with its great energy can overcome any ordinary reverses, but yet it cannot be denied that in many particulars we have not receded from the inflated prices occasioned by the war. These war prices must be reduced and there will be a decline in values before long, as there has always been after every war, but which in our own case we have not yet seen.

The Secretary of the Treasury has announced that he will sell $4,000,000 in gold on the first, third and fifth Thursday's, and $1,500,000 on the second and fourth Thursdays in May; and that he will buy $500,000 in bonds on the first and third Wednesdays of the same month. Total gold sales, $6,000,000; bond purchases, $1,000,000.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 30, 1873. }

While business generally is considerably short of what it usually is and should be at this particular season of the year, it is nevertheless improving, and the indications are that it will continue to improve; the backwardness of the season, bad condition of the country roads, as well as the stringency in money matters, have all conspired to depress trade, and until within the past week or ten days, many of our merchants and manufacturers were very much discouraged, regarding the situation, present as well as prospective, with no little apprehension. However, we are in hopes as trade generally has been comparatively light all winter and spring, that it will be better than usual this summer, and the fact that the orders for Pittsburgh manufactures, as a rule, have been comparatively light would indicate that stocks in the hands of both jobbers and consumers are very much reduced, is sufficient to warrant the belief that these expectations will be realized. The grocery trade is reported as having improved very materially within the past few days; and the grain business is also considerably better. There is a very good demand for all kinds of country produce, and at prices that should be satisfactory to producers. If money was not so tight, business of all kinds would be better than it is; there is no question but what this is the greatest barrier in the way, but we are in hopes that it will soon commence to work easier; the prospects are regarded as being favorable for good crops, which will tend very materially in restoring confidence, and with confidence restored there is no doubt but the money market will become easier, as it was the want of confidence, more than anything else, that caused it to work so tight.

APPLES—There is a better demand, and we can report regular sales at $2.50@3.50 per barrel, according to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—45@55c per gallon.

BUTTER—Is coming in more freely and with a diminished demand the market is weaker, and we reduce our quotations to 33@35 for prime to choice roll.

BEANS—Sales in a jobbing way at $2.50@2.75 per bu. as to quality.

CHEESE—New Ohio Dairy, 11@12; new Ohio factory, 14@15; prime old New York Goshen, @16½.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands quotable at 16½@16½ by the car load, and 1@2c additional for smaller lots.

COUNTRY BACON—8@7 for Shoulders; 8@9 for Clear Sides; 10@12 for Hams. Country Lard, 7½@8½.

EGGS—The feeling is rather firmer, but the supply is fully up to the demand and prices remain unchanged, ranging from 15 to 16.

FLOUR—Is moderately active, and firmer but unchanged; $7.50@7.75 for Spring wheat flours, and $8.50 to $9 for fair to choice red winter wheat. Rye Flour, $5.50@5.75.

GRAIN—The receipts continue light, and with reduced stocks, there is a firmer feeling, though since the date of our last report, there is no quotable change in prices. Wheat is scarce and in demand, at the recent advance, $1.80@1.85 for good to prime red winter, and $1.90@1.95 for white. Oats still quoted steady at 45@46 cents for good mixed, and 47@48 for prime white. Shelled Corn, 51@52 on track and 54@55 free in in elevator. Ear Corn, 53 in bulk and 55 sacked. Rye is scarce and while there does not seem to be much inquiry for it, dealers are paying from 80 to 85. The receipts and offerings of Barley continue very meagre, and in the absence of sales, we continue to quote at 85@90 for Spring and 95@$1 for fall, according to quality.

GROCERIES—Trade is generally reported more active; some houses are very busy filling country orders, and a better feeling seems to prevail. Coffee is reported considerably firmer, and our advices from New York report Sugars more active and firmer—the feeling seems to be rapidly gaining ground that the lowest notch has been reached, and that an early advance is not improbable.

SUGARS—Patent Cut Loaf, 12¾; Crushed, Granulated and Powdered, 12; Standard A, 11; B, 10¾; Ex. C, 10¾; C, Yellow, 10¾; Circle C, 10¾; Lower grades, 9@10.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 24; Good to Prime, 22½@23½c, fair 21@21½c. Old Government Java, 31c; other Javas, 26@28c; Roasted Rio, 1 lb packages, 27c; loose, 26½c Roasted Java, 33½.

MOLASSES—Choice New Orleans, 73@75c; Prime 70@72.

SYRUPS—White Drips, 65; other grades ranging from 60 to 40, as to quality.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 9; prime, 8½; Patna, 8@ Rangoon 7¾@8.

HAY—The receipts of baled, although not large are sufficient to keep up the supply, and the market is dull, although prices are unchanged, ranging from $25 to $30.

HOMINY—4@$4.25 per barrel.

POULTRY—Live chickens in light supply and selling readily at 80@90c per pair.

POTATOES—Quiet and unchanged; sales in a jobbing way at 75@80 per bushel for mixed, and 85@90 for Peach Blows.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, EAST LIBERTY, }
WEDNESDAY, April 30, 1873. }

Trade was moderately active on Monday, a fair number of cattle were sold at last week's prices; yesterday it commenced to drag, caused mainly by the heavy receipts at Chicago, and to-day there was an almost dead-lock. The almost if not altogether unprecedented arrivals at Chicago, the great western distributing point, about thirteen thousand head in two days, was not without its effect here; buyers, as might be expected, at once became very bearish, confident that they had nothing to lose by holding back, and the market was very dull to-day at a decline of fully 25 cents per cwt, as compared with Monday, and the indications are that there will be a still further decline before the close of the week; the receipts are large and steadily increasing, the pens were nearly all full to-day, and as already stated, but very few changing hands, then it is known that the arrivals will be large for some time to come, as these cattle must be shipped out of Chicago in order to make room, and as a matter of course, they will be sent eastward either by this or some other route; hence, shippers are predicting lower prices east, as it is almost certain that both New York and Philadelphia will be glutted for a week or perhaps two. Thus far what few cattle have been sold were purchased by country and Philadelphia buyers; there is little or no inquiry on New York account as yet—there may be, once the Yorkers become satisfied that the bottom had been reached and the Philadelphia buyers are also holding back with the same object in view, namely, getting cheaper cattle.

The situation, as will be readily inferred from what we have stated, is very unfavorable for sellers, and as a rule, they will nearly all lose money, some of them, a good deal of it. There is a bare possibility that the market may not turn as badly as it is now expected it will, but the probabilities are all the other way; the cattle trade, like all other trades is governed by business by that inflexible law of supply and demand, and the inference, follows, therefore, as it is almost as certain as anything can be, that all the leading markets will be glutted, that lower prices will prevail. It is this inference, that has brought about the stagnation prevailing here to-day, and which is likely to continue the balance of the week. Prime 1,400 steers which sold on Monday at 7@7½ cannot be quoted to-day above 6¾@7, and even at the decline the market was exceedingly dull; buyers were afraid to make an offer least they might be taken up as sellers especially those who fully realized the true condition of the market, present as well as prospective, were anxious to sell—they could see no inducement to go any further east—they thought it was better to meet their loss here than go on east, adding to their expenses and sustaining a still greater loss. Prime 1,200@1,400 cattle may be quoted at 6½@6¾; and 1,000@1,100, at 5¾@6. Following is a partial report of sales:

Hazelwood & Blackstock: 2 cars of fair 1,150 steers at 5.95; 2 do, 1,200 at 6.45; 2 do 1,325 at 6.60; 3 do, 1,200 at 6.25; 1 do, 1,175 at 6; 1 do, 1,100 at 5.85; 1 do, 1,175 at 6.15; 2 cars extra 1,425 at 7¼; 1 do, 1,050 bulls at 4½. These sales were made on Monday and Tuesday; they would not have brought within 25 cents per cwt. as much to-day.

Sadler, Havens & Co.: 2 cars good 1,100 steers at 6½; 1 do, 1,175 at 6.35; 1 do. rough 1,200 at 5.90; 1 do. good still fed, 1,250 lbs, at 6¾.

Hedges & Huff—68 fair 1,220 Illinois steers at 6.31, 1,367 at 6½; 29 rough 1,300 at 6.

Watson & Briggs—4 cars fair 1,250 steers at 6½; 2 do, 1015 at 5½; 2 do, 1,120 at 6½; 1 do, 1,160 cows and steers at 5.70; 1 do, 1,115 steers at 6.

SHEEP.

The "run" of sheep thus far has been comparatively light, and the indications are that it will continue so during the balance of the week; this being the case the market has been fairly active, notwithstanding the advices from New York are anything but favorable, and last week's prices are fully sustained. The great proportion of the arrivals are clipped, three fourths, if not more, but notwithstanding the small supply of unshorn they are slow; clipped, quality and weights being equal, sell more readily and at relatively better prices than wooled sheep. The regular eastern buyers will not pay over one cent per pound more for the latter than the former in consequence of the low price of wool; it is probable that farmers can do better with the wool than dealers, and realizing this the great majority of them will keep their sheep until after they have taken off the wool—this accounts for the increased receipts of clipped and falling off in the arrivals of wooled. The general feeling, however, seems to be that sheep must go lower, in sympathy with wool; then it is known that there is a full supply all over the country, and it is probable that producers will want to reduce their stocks. Prime, 95@100 lb clipped may be quoted at 5¾@6c; 85@90 lb, 5¼@5¾. Wooled sheep, 6@7, as to quality, and, to use a common phrase, about played out.

Hedges, Huff & Co, sold 215 wooled, 80 lb, fine, 6.70; 412 clipped, fine, 87, at 5.85; 144 coarse, 104, at 5½; 90 common coarse, 87, 4½; 250 medium wool, unshorn, 86, 6.55.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co.—1 car from Chicago, unshorn, 80 lbs, 6½; 1 do, 86, 6¾; 1 car clipped, fine, 87, 5.60; 1 do., 100, 5.80; 1 do. common 83, 5.30; 1 do., 87, 5.40.

Sadler, Havens & Co.—1 car common clipped, 87 pounds, 4½; 1 do, 83 pounds, fair, 5½; 1 do, 82 pounds, 5¾; 1 do. 85 do, 5.30; 1 do, 83 do, 5.35; 1 do, 84 lbs, 5½; 2 cars common coarse wool, 87 lbs, 6¾.

Hazlewood & Blackstock, 1 car clipped, 88 lbs, at 5.40.

HOGS.

The receipts of hogs, although not large, are sufficient to keep up the supply, and the market is steady and prices if anything firmer, although not quotably higher. Prime Philadelphia hogs quotable at 6⅛@6¼; and fair to prime Yorkers at 5¾@6. Some dealers argue that hogs must go higher, and they base this on the ground that they are cheaper relatively than the product—whether this is so or not we do not pretend to know, but it is probable there is something in it.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 30, 1873. }

The Crude market continues strong and considerably excited, and as compared with yesterday prices have still further advanced, quoted at $2.80 per bbl. at Parker, with a sale of 5,000 bbls. reported at that figure, equal to about 7½@7¾c. per gallon delivered here. Some of the buyers claim that the producers and dealers are "bulling" the market, that the advance is not altogether legitimate; while the producers allege that it is in consequence of a falling off in the production. Refined, however, does not seem to sympathize with the raw material; for while the former has advanced during the past forty-eight hours from 25 to 30c. per barrel, there has been little or no change in the latter; it was reported this afternoon that 20 cents was the best price that could be obtained for any delivery in Philadelphia. Exporters will give but little encouragement looking toward higher prices, and there will be no advance in refined, if they can prevent it; however, if the present price is sustained, the product, as a matter of course, must follow suit.

The Breadstuffs Trade Abroad.

The Mark Lane Express of the 14th says: The progress of the season during the week has been reversed in the state of the weather, sharp hail storms, cutting winds, and night frosts having prevailed, and we fear with some effect on the earlier fruit trees. Spring planting has also been hindered further, and we have been practically reminded of this uncertain and variable climate, too much so, indeed, to warrant a sanguine expectation of liberal gatherings next harvest. Yet the turn of prices as respects English wheat has been against values, and again some markets note a decline of 1s. even on the better kinds, but the want of quality has been the chief cause; indeed, so far as London is concerned, the weekly supplies, though small, have been so much below millers' requirements, after giving them a days' chance, have generally concluded the week by forced sales at less money for various purposes. Millers thus having been forced upon fine foreign, the quality has held its own for a month past, excepting California white, which came in at too free a rate for immediate consumption. On all sides, however, we hear that farmers' stocks are getting low, and as there is no inducement in the quality to keep them even with a prospective rise of 10s. ℔ quarter on good corn, it would seem we are getting too near the end of the year's produce to be left entirely to our foreign stocks and arrivals, which, though they may prove sufficient, are not likely to leave us with a large surplus.

This Easter week, of course has been a period of dullness, and till the holidays are over trade will not revive; but if English stocks are really as low as credibly reported, there seems a very fair prospect of business so importers all through the season if they only start right at first cost. Speculation, indeed must have something more than now appears to justify its action, but consumption must go on at a steady rate, and already our stocks in London are much reduced thereby. Prices abroad have little varied. The Paris market notes a rise of 1 franc in flour, with firmness for good wheat; Belgium and Holland keep firm. Dantzic is only cheaper for inferior qualities. Odessa remains very dear. Hungary, Italy and Spain, keep in calm.

The arrivals off the coast since April 4, were 15 cargoes, of which 6 cargoes were wheat and 9 maize.

Business was reported as follows: Wheat 26 cargoes in all, viz: 54s 6d@60s 6d; Ghirka 53s 9d@57s 3d; white Lisbon 53s@56s 6d; Polish Odessa 52s 3d@53s 6d; spring red 54s@55s; maize 29 cargoes 27s@30s 9d; barley 7 cargoes 23s 3d@24s; dari 1 cargo 26s 6d.

The sales of English wheat noted last week were 46,075 qrs at 54s 11d, against 49,579 qrs at 54s in 1872.

The imports into the kingdom for the week ending 5th April were 701,319 cwts wheat, and 173,757 cwts flour.

Receipts Pig Metal, Ore and Blooms.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was at a stand last evening, with 8 feet 4 inches in the channel, a rise of ten inches during the preceding 24 hours.

There was not a single arrival excepting the slackwater packets.

It was not certain whether the Savanna would get off last night or not for St. Louis—if not, she will depart to-day without fail.

The coalmen were busily engaged yesterday in getting tows ready, and quite a number of boats departed as follows: John Dippold, Hawk, Tom Rees No. 2, N. J. Bigley, Samson No. 2 for Louisville, Bengal Tiger, Niagara, Tom Rees, J. F. Dravo, Coal Valley and Leopard for Cincinnati, and the Victory for St. Louis.

The sale of the J. S. McDonald to the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company has fell through for the present, the owners not being satisfied to let her go at the price in question, $40,000, and the representatives of the M. V. T. Co. were not at liberty to raise it any.

The Exchange is en route from Nashville, and the Messenger, from St. Louis.

—Capt. B. F. Beasley has returned from Madison without making a contract for the light-draft sternwheeler he wants. Stuart & Co. are so busy that they could not contract to complete his hull before September 1st. This won't suit the veteran, who has made up his mind to visit Cincinnati to see what can be done by the builders there.—St. Louis Democrat, 29th.

If Capt. Beasley would come to Pittsburgh he would have no trouble in contracting for the kind of boat he wants, and, furthermore, there would be no difficulty in having her completed on time.

The little W. H. Harrison sunk a flat of coal a little to the right of the channel at the crossing from the point, on Tuesday, and the Diamond struck it with her tow yesterday, fortunately doing no serious damage. The sunken flat of coal belongs to Keiling & Co., of Wheeling, and was en route for that port at the time of the accident.

—An upper Mississippi exchange says roustabouts are getting $35 per month.—The conundrum, "If the packet company charges 18 cents cents per hundred for grain to St. Louis during the present stage of water, what will the price be when low water is at hand," is vexing the minds and prospects of upper Mississippi shippers.

—A dispatch to the St. Louis Globe, dated Memphis, Saturday, says: The Robt. E. Lee came up at 2 P. M., two days and twenty-one hours out from New-Orleans, and six hours and twenty-five minutes from Helena, ninety miles below, which is the fastest time ever made here from that point. The Lee leaves in an hour and will go to Louisville in two days.

—Capt. Jas. Paul, of the steamer Mary Miller was brought before United States Commissioner Merriwether, in Louisville, Friday, charged with acting as pilot without the required license and for leaving the ports of Memphis and Cairo without a sufficient number of officers. He gave bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance at the October term of the United States Court.

—The Belle of Texas, Capt. J. J. Darragh, laden with railroad iron, passed Vicksburg, last Friday, on her way from New Orleans to Arkansas river.

—The barge Maud Lowry is a total loss. The last boat reports a few planks sticking out of the water, that being all that can be seen of the wreck.

—Nashville Union and American, Saturday: "The Cincinnati Packet Line is to be revived. Three first class boats will be in the trade next season."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Speedily Cured.—All Forms of Venereal, Private and Nervous disease at the old established Girard Medical Institute, No. 172 Second avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NO CHARGE UNTIL CURED.

Syphilis, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia and all Urinary diseases are cured in the shortest possible time that will insure permanent relief. Spermatorrhea, or Seminal weakness and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse or excess in maturer years, and which produce some of the following effects, as emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, nervousness, dimness of sight, cough, indigestion, constipation, despondency, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, loss of memory, and sexual power, and which unfits the victim for business or marriage, and ultimately causing insanity and consumption, are thoroughly and permanently cured. Medicines supplied at the Institute. A medical pamphlet relating to private diseases sent in sealed envelope for two stamps. All communications confidential.

This Institute was established for the express purpose of supplying the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numberless quacks and impostors that infest all large cities. The proprietors have made the treatment of Private and special diseases the study of their lives, and can refer to thousands all over the country that have been benefitted and cured by their treatment. No matter how difficult or long standing your case may be, if curable, after a personal examination they will frankly tell you; remember, they have cured many cases given up by other physicians.

Patients treated by mail or express, but where possible, it is best to visit the city for personal consultation, or address

Councilmen Elected.

The election for Councilmen in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, (late McClure township) was held on Tuesday, and proved to be a very exciting local contest. The vote polled was unusually large for an election, and resulted as follows:

Select Council.		Common Council.
*C. H. Hartman	131	*John Seeling	145
*W. F. Richardson	122	W. H. Bown	109
John Phillips	65	M. Geyer	63

By these returns, Mr. Hartman for Select Council, secures the two year term, and Mr. Richardson, that for one year.

How to Improve Justice.

Patrick McCain and his wife Ann, last evening got disorderly at their boarding house on Second street, Allegheny. They were arrested and brought before the Mayor who sentenced Ann thirty days to Claremont and Patrick ninety—as he was very obstreperous, threatening and making a great noise. After he was sentenced he commenced to curse the Magistrate, and was about to put more "head" on when an officer grabbed him and prevented such a sad occurrence. He received an additional ninety days for his thoughtfulness.

Sunday Lectures.

In some of the eastern cities for some time past lectures have been given on Sunday afternoon which have proved very popular and have been well attended. An effort is about being made in this same direction by the Young Men's Christian Association of this city and we understand that arrangements are now completed for several lectures to be delivered in their rooms, the first of which will be on Sunday afternoon next by Rev. Dr. Holmes, of the North Avenue M. E. church, of Allegheny City. These lectures as now arranged for will be a series bearing upon the popular objections which are urged against the Bible and the Christian religion and will be of an interesting and instructive character.

Anniversary Exercises.

Tuesday evening the anniversary exercises of the Sunday School connected with the First Presbyterian Church (Rev. S. F. Scovel's), were held in the Church, and were participated in by a large company, comprising the members of the school and its friends. The exercises were under the direction of the Pastor, assisted by the Superintendents, Messrs. James Laughlin, Jr. and T. H. Patterson. The programme was of a very interesting character, embracing several beautiful songs by the children; reports from the Superintendents showing the school to be in a very flourishing condition, with a membership of 310; an address by Rev. Mr. Scovel; and finally the distribution of a number of prizes. These pleasant exercises in the church were supplemented with an entertainment in the Sunday School room, at which ice cream and its concomitants were especially prominent.

The anniversary throughout was a very pleasant one, and a great success.

Commenced Work.

The Hamilton Hall Cottage Company have given an earnest of their intentions, by breaking ground for their new building, which is to be located at the terminus of Penn avenue. The new building when completed, according to the plans, will be one of the finest structures of the kind in the State, and will afford a delightful summer retreat to all who wish to get away from the heat and dust and smoke of the city, to purer breezes, and enjoyment of suburban life. The building will have a frontage on the avenue of one hundred and fifty-nine feet, and will extend back one hundred and thirty feet; in addition there will be "wings" which will materially increase its size. It is to be five stories in height, rounding off with a Mansard roof twenty feet high. The external appearance will also be improved by two towers, one rising twenty and the other fifteen feet, above the roof, to be used as observatories. The arrangements for the finish of the "Hall" are made on the most perfect scale, and when completed—as it will be this season—it is bound to become a favorite resort for those who would enjoy all the benefits of city and rural life combined.

THE NEW VERSION.

Meeting of Pastors and Elders.

A meeting of pastors and elders of the U. P. churches of Allegheny was held in the Rev. J. W. Witherspoon's church, on Monday evening, for the purpose of considering the propriety and feasibility of the introduction of the revised version of the Psalms into all the U. P. churches in Allegheny. There was quite a large attendance, and the matter was discussed at considerable length. The general sentiment was strongly in favor of an early introduction of the new version into the churches and Sunday schools of the denomination in Allegheny, but there was a fear expressed by some that the people of the congregations were not all quite ready for the innovation, and that the matter would require the exercise of considerable tact and discretion to preserve harmony. It was deemed advisable, however, that the matter be brought before the people directly, and the revised version introduced at once wherever such a course was possible. The meeting adjourned for two weeks, when there will be another consultation held in the First Church, Rev. W. J. Robinson's, on Union avenue.

FIRE.

House Burned—Heroic Conduct of a Boy.

The residence of Mr. James Linton, of Robinson township, was burned down on last Friday evening. Mr. Linton was absent in the city at the time of the fire. His oldest boy and a boy who was employed by Mr. Linton were at the barn feeding the cattle, when one of them discovered flames issuing from one of the doors of the house. The boy who was working for Mr. Linton ran to the house, and finding the other doors fastened, sprang through a window, seized three small children and hastily placed them out of danger. It appears that two children were in bed and another one took a small coal pit lamp and went into a closet for the purpose of looking for some article of dress. The flame of the lamp communicated with some clothing, and the little girl in her fright, threw down the lamp and sprang into bed with the other children. The boy, whose opportune arrival saved the life of the children, is warmly commended for his noble conduct. Death had entered Mr. Linton's household only a short time before, and had taken away his wife and two children. Truly, "when sorrows come, they come not as single spies, but in battalions."

TAKING OUT LICENSES.

Lively Times Around the Treasurer's Office Over Eleven Hundred Licenses Taken Out.

For the past fortnight the clerks in the County Treasurer's office have found all their leisure time taken up with the making out of the papers for those Bonifaces who proposed to continue their business during the coming year. The great rush is now over and from the estimates made it appears that there is no especial falling off in the applicants from last year, notwithstanding the fact that Local Option has prevailed in several of the districts of the county. This is explained by some on the ground that whereas some districts did at the last election vote against license there were others where prohibition previously held sway that are now for license. The number taken out up to yesterday was 1,127, and the net results to the county will reach about $125,000; perhaps when the exact aggregate is made up it will show a larger sum than that. The rush is over now, from the fact that the saloon-keepers commenced work early, knowing that they could secure no papers after the first of May until the first of August. The large majority of those taken out have been eating house licenses, for which the fee is but $100, and under which no liquor can be sold. A license to retail liquor costs $300, and to wholesale $50—the latter being increased according to the sales. The rates are higher this year and the county gets three-fourths of the fees instead of one-half, as was the case last year.

One of the most attractive establishments in the city is the Granite Yard of Messrs. Dodds & Caskey, corner Penn avenue and Thirty-second street, where can be seen specimens of finished Granite Work from many of our American quarries, and from the well-known quarries of Scotland. The use of these enduring and beautifully polished Granites for monumental and cemetery work is rapidly increasing every year, something like $2,000,000 worth having been imported by the United States during the past year, and we are happy to chronicle the success of this new branch of trade among us. These gentlemen, we learn, have not only a large city business, but have received during the past winter some gratifying orders from Cleveland, O., among which is an immense polished obelisk of Scotch Granite, which will be the largest ever brought to this country. They also supply a large and constantly increasing western demand through their house at Xenia, O., thus being the most extensive dealers in this line west of the mountains. It will pay to consult them before buying elsewhere.

A jury was empanneled and a number of witnesses examined on the part of the Commonwealth, when the Court adjourned until this morning.

····Yesterday morning William Fisher, employed in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops at the outer depot, while at work, got caught in the upper gearing of some belting. He succeeded in jerking himself loose, but fell to the floor, a distance of twelve feet, and was quite severely, though not seriously injured. He was taken to the Independence engine house and received attention, after which he was taken home.

····The following ticket was nominated by the Republicans of Kittanning on Monday: Justice of the Peace, D. B. Heiner; Judge of Election, James McCullough, Jr.; Inspector, Joel Crawford; Town Constable, John A. Lemmon; School Directors, Frank Mechling, Andrew Titzell; Assessor, W. W. Hastings; Auditors, J. G. Parr, W. R. Milliron, A. T. Pontius; Overseer of the Poor, Reuben Briney; Town Council, G. B. Daugherty, Abraham Myers, David Knobel; High Constable, John H. Bair.

····Yesterday morning, upon the petition of Mrs. Barbara Fornof, presented in the Court of Common Pleas, John H. Kerr, Esq., was appointed commissioner to inquire into the habitual drunkenness of her husband, Adam Fornof. She alleges that by reason of his intemperance he is incapable of managing his property; that he has eleven hundred dollars in a bank together with other personal property which he is unable to take care of, and that he has a family consisting of a wife and three children, the youngest three months old and the eldest ten years, which he has lately neglected to provide for.

····Mrs. Jane B. Holmes, through her attorneys, Messrs. W. D. Moore and George Shiras, yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas entered suit against Adam Forepaugh, for an alleged breach of contract. It is alleged that the plaintiff several years ago mortgaged her property for a circus, to one Ward, and that the mortgage was foreclosed and Mr. Forepaugh bought in the property, with the understanding that he would allow it to be redeemed. The defendant, in violation of the contract, as is alleged, sold it, and hence the suit. It is claimed that the property was sold for $22,000, when it was worth $90,000. It is located near Soho.

IN MEMORIAM.

Tribute of Respect to the Memory of Capt. Young.

At a meeting of the Allegheny County Agricultural and Mechanical Society, held on the 30th of April, the following preamble and resolutions, offered by Hon. John E. Parke, were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Board of Managers of the Allegheny County Agricultural and Mechanical Society have learned with feelings of the deepest sorrow the sudden death of Captain John Young, Jr., one of the oldest, most valued and efficient members of this board, and one who always manifested the warmest interest in its welfare; and whereas, it is not only consistent with the feelings of confidence and esteem with which the deceased was regarded by each and every member of the board, but a binding duty we owe to his memory, to place a memorial of his usefulness and virture upon our records:

An association of a most pleasant character for many years with the deceased, induced us to feel for him whilst living the most cherished friendship, and in his death the most heartfelt sorrow. Generous to a fault, affable and courteous in his deportment, and as a Christian gentleman his character stands without blot or blemish.

In all the relations of life, either in Church or State, he proved himself a man of rare and unflinching integrity, conscientiously discharging every duty and trust committed to his care, wise in council, and firm in his friendship. He leaves behind him, as a parent, citizen and Christian, the best of all legacies, an unspotted reputation and an honored name.

By this mysterious dispensation of Divine Providence, we are most emphatically reminded of the shortness and uncertainty of life. But a very few days ago and he was as likely as any of us destined to length of days, and by his sudden removal hence we humbly recognise the fact that our Heavenly Father is thus teaching us a lesson of Heavenly wisdom to make us more and more diligent in working while it is day, and solemnly reminding us that the night cometh when no man can work.

Our province is mainly to speak of his connection with our Society, and the interests of Agriculture generally. From the first inception of the society, he took an active and intelligent interest in all its movements, and was found ever faithful in his attendance; was zealous in promoting its best interests. He entered with commendable zeal into the investigation of all problems bearing upon the science upon which our Society is based, and frequently expressed the hope and desire to make it not only the first in the State, but equal to the best in the whole country.

Resolved, That we tender to the family and friends of the deceased the assurance of our sympathy in their sad affliction, and that the only thought that can reconcile us to their, and our loss, is that it was so ordered by a kind Father who doeth all things wisely and well.

Resolved, That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be engrossed upon our records and that a copy of the same be forwarded to the bereaved family of the deceased with the hope that they may prove acceptable memorials of its lamented head.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

DISTRICT COURT—JUDGES HAMPTON AND KIRKPATRICK.

The case of Thomas A. Carson et ux. vs. Andrew McCloy et ux. was taken up before Judge Hampton. It seems that Mrs. McCloy, the defendant, owned property in Allegheny City, the half of which she sold to her daughter, Mrs. Carson. The city then ran a street through the property and assessed all the damages to the mother, ignoring Mrs. Carson entirely, and this action is consequently brought by her for half of the damages assessed by the city. The case is still on trial. A. G. and G. R. Cochran, Esqs., represent the plaintiff, and S. M. Raymond, Esq., the defendant.

The case of Samuel Reynolds vs. Poor & McKee, which was an action to recover for a lot of oil rod suckers, and reported yesterday, was concluded, and a verdict found for plaintiff for the sum of twenty dollars and sixty-five cents.

The case of Joshua Mall vs. John Ango, being an action of covenant against the defendant as warrantor of a deed to plaintiff, is on trial before Judge Kirkpatrick. The title, is alleged, was defective and the vendee was ousted, and hence this suit for damages.

The jury in the ejectment case of Emma M. Perry vs. Hugh Perry, which has engaged the attention of Judge Hampton for the past two weeks, returned a verdict yesterday morning in favor of the plaintiff for 6¼ cents damages and costs of suit.

The last case taken up was that of Simon Jacobs against the Adams Express Company. Action to recover for a bill of goods shipped from New York. The plaintiff claims $302. On trial.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE MCCANDLESS.

On petition of George Carroll & Bro., of Erie, Pa., creditors, the firm of R. Armstrong & Bro., of Wheatland, Mercer county, debtors, was adjudged bankrupt, and the matter referred to Register Woodruff, of Erie.

On petition of C. G. Harmon, assignee of the estate of George W. Speigle, of Erie county, bankrupt, an order was made for a second general meeting of the creditors at Erie.

The report of Register Shafer on the application of George C. Higgins for pay for services as clerk to the estate of R. & A. C. McPherson, of Parker's Landing, bankrupts, was presented and assignee directed to pay the claim of said Higgins. On petition of the assignee of said bankrupts, Wallace Martin was appointed special Commissioner to take testimony.

Patrick Featherstone, of Allegheny City, who was adjudged bankrupt on petition of Z. Wainwright & Co., of this city, creditors, having, according to the report of Register Shafer, complied with all the requirements of the bankrupt act, received his final discharge. In granting this discharge, this court has virtually decided that the fact of a debtor being adjudged bankrupt upon creditors' petition does not, necessarily, prevent him receiving a certificate of discharge. The bankrupt was represented by W. D. Moore, Esq.

Register Knox presented his bills of costs in the matters of Benjamin Maple and Williamson Hart, of Green county, and John Moorhead of Lawrence county, bankrupts, and the same was approved.

On petition of certain creditors, James H. Hopkins, Esq., of this city, was appointed assignee of the estate of William Horn, of Washington county, bankrupt, in place of Hon. Wm. Hopkins, deceased.

The choice by the creditors of Amos Howard, of Mill Creek, Pa., as assignee of the estate of Wesley Ross, of Luzerne county, bankrupt, was approved.

A further argument was had in the matter of Wilmarth & Rolfe, of Erie country, bankrupts on the demurrer to the rule on Register Woodruff to show cause why the assigns elected at the first meeting of creditors should not be recognized as such, and the proceedings removed to some other Register. Judge Souther, representing certain creditors, and John H. Bailey, Esq., for the Register, appeared for demurrer, and J. M. Stoner, Esq., against the same.

The decision of the Court was reserved.

In the case of William Merrington vs. the steamboat Oil Valley, in admiralty, an order was made directing the Clerk to pay to John R. Large, Esq., Proctor for libellant, the sum of one hundred dollars, amount deposited in full of the claim of said libellant.

On petition presented Holtzman & Weiderhold were allowed to file an intervening libel for furniture in the case of S. J. Erwin vs. the steamboat A. J. Baker, in admiralty.

THE WAR RENEWED.

Another Encounter at Broadford Between Railroad Hands—The Contest for Possession of the Mt. Pleasant Road—Two Bridges Burned.

Exciting rumors reached the city last evening that the war between the rival railroads for the possession of the Mount Pleasant Railroad had been renewed, and that a first-class riot was on the tapis. An investigation of the statements somewhat modified the first thrilling rumors, but developed the fact that there had been lively times "up the road," was a renewal of hostilities.

It seems that the managers of the Connellsville Company became somewhat tired of the monotony of the situation, especially as the business interests of their patrons and of themselves were suffering. They accordingly determined to repossess themselves of the branch lately wrested from them, and with this end in view they secured a large squad of workmen to re-lay the track that had been torn up near Broadford. The laborers worked with a will, and by yesterday afternoon at three o'clock had finished their work. A locomotive belonging to the Connellsville Road had been run down to them, and they were preparing to leave, when about two hundred workmen, representing the Pennsylvania Railroad, put in an appearance. The new comers were quite belligerent in their demonstrations, but in this respect were not ahead of the party of the opposite side, and a serious collision was apprehended. The Pennsylvania party soon evinced their intention by setting fire to a couple of small bridges built over the creeks in the vicinity. They accomplished their purpose by running down an oil car and saturating the woodwork of the bridges with oil, which facilitated the rapid destruction of the trestle work. The fire burned so rapidly that the locomotive of the Connellsville party, which had been standing on one bridge, narrowly escaped being destroyed.

This movement on the part of the Pennsylvania party gave them the victory, and the connection with the Connellsville road was again broken. There were manifestations of fierceness on both sides, and a hand-to-hand encounter seemed imminent, but the belligerents wisely concluded to forego the pleasure of a free use of the "shillelah" or other weapons. The latest intelligence was to the effect that peace still prevailed, although both parties were yet confronting each other.

In the meantime the Connellsville Company are pressing their case before the Supreme Court. They have filed their bill in equity, and in it allege that they still have control of the Mount Pleasant road according to the terms of the agreement between them; they claim this agreement or lease was never broken by their (Connellsville) failure to pay the interest, but that, on the other hand, the Mt. Pleasant road is indebted to them. So the case, belligerently and legally, stands at present

PEN PORTRAITS.

The Hon. John N. Purviance, of Butler County.

Among the "Pen Portraits" of members of the Constitutional Convention, in the Philadelphia Press, we find the following of Hon. John N. Purviance, of Butler county:

"A man of much more than ordinary merit and force of character is one of the Republican delegates from the Twenty-sixth district, the Hon. John N. Purviance, of Butler, Butler county. He sits second on the right from the front door entrance, is slim, cleanly shaven, rather small faced, and wears short hair, dark and consistent. He was born where he now resides, in Pennsylvania, on the 27th of September, 1810. His education was such as the common schools and academies of those days afforded. He read law with the late Judge Bredin, was admitted to practice in 1832. Soon after, he was appointed Deputy Attorney General by the late Chief Justice Lewis, and subsequently reappointed by the late Hon. George M. Dallas. He continued to practice law until he was appointed by the late Governor Shunk Auditor General of the State in 1845, and re-appointed in 1848. Again returning to his home in Butler county, he resumed the practice of his profession until the breaking out of the late war. He raised a company of infantry, was selected captain, and served as such until the formation of the 13th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, his company being one of the companies of that regiment. He was elected Lieutenant Colonel, in which capacity he served until mustered out of service by reason of expiration of term of enlistment. Again he resumed his profession and continued until he was appointed Register in Bankruptcy, which position he resigned after holding it four years, again returning to the bar, now temporarily interrupted by his duties as a member of the Convention. He is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was a member of the National Convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for President. He is a son of the late Colonel John Purviance, who was one of the earliest settlers of Butler county, was an attorney-at-law and Colonel of the Second Regiment Infantry in the war of 1812. His mother was a daughter of the Rev. Samuel Anderson, of Frederick City, Maryland. He is a brother of Hon. Samuel A. Purviance, of Pittsburgh, like him is a Republican, but unlike him, was not a member of the Convention of 1838. He measures five feet ten inches in height, and weighs 150 pounds. He is a member of the Committee on Accounts and Expenditures and the Committee on Executive Department. He is an eminent lawyer, a fine public speaker, a gentleman, and a delegate devoted to the duties of the day with all the ardor of youth and ambition, and with honesty unquestioned by any one of either party."

AMUSEMENTS.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—Last evening Mrs. F. C. Chanfrau was greeted by a good sized audience to witness her third representation of "Aurora Floyd." Her acting was spirited as well as accurate, and delighted the audience. Mr. Gotthold's "John Mellish" was certainly a choice bit of acting, and shows this gentleman's wonderful capacity for assuming almost any character. This evening Mrs. Chanfrau appears in "Christie Johnstone."

LIBRARY HALL.—Last evening Miss Laura Keene and her Company appeared in "She Stoops to Conquer" to a fair sized house. Miss Keene's rendition of "Miss Hardcastle" was a very enjoyble performance, and of much merit. Her company rendered her efficient support. This evening she appears as "Peg Woffington" in "Masks and Faces." Seats can be had during the day at Hale's, No. 103 Smithfield street.

FOREPAUGH'S SHOW.—To-day is the last day of exhibition of this immense aggregation in this city. This evening they will fold up their tents and silently march away, after the performance is over. Don't fail to go to-day if you wish to witness one of the best shows that has ever visited this city. They exhibit at the corner of Twenty-sixth and Penn streets.

CITY HALL FAIR.—This evening the fair for the benefit of the Boarding Home for Working Women will be enlivened by a performance of "Ye Folkes of ye Olden Tyme," and Mrs. Slack Davis, with six of her pupils, has kindly volunteered. They will appear in Indian costume. Dinner will be served to-day by the Second Presbyterian church of this city.

LAFAYETTE HALL.—On Friday evening Mrs. Slack Davis will give an exhibition of her pupils in dramatic, terpsichorean and calesthenic exercises. The programme laid out is a very choice one, and there is no doubt that the numerous friends of Mrs. Davis and her pupils will tend to test the capacity of the hall.

AIM'S AMERICAN THEATRE.—This house is offering some very choice attractions this week, and in consequence is well filled every night

TRIMBLE'S VARITIES.—This place, of course, flourishes as usual, and the attractions offered this week are far above the average.

VIOLATING EXCISE LAWS.

How the Liquor Traffic is Carried on in North Fayette Township.

Mrs. Ella Gillespie yesterday appeared before Alderman McMasters and made three informations against Frank Carrigan, charging him with violating the liquor laws. She alleges that he sells liquor on Sunday, also that he sells to minors, and that he does this all without any license to sell liquor. She stated that she was led to make the informations from the fact that her son, aged only sixteen years, has become an habitual drunkard through the machinations of this man, who induced him to drink and sold him liquor. She further stated that before he knew this man Carrigan he was a steady and hard-working boy, and now, through his wiles he has became unmanageable, causing her much sorrow and trouble. The parties all reside in North Fayette township. Warrants issued.

MONDAY'S TRAGEDY.

Nothing New Developed—The Case Still Wrapped in Mystery—The Bloody Clothes—Circumstantial Evidence, Etc.

The tragedy of Monday did not develop anything new yesterday. It is stated that strong circumstantial evidence is accumulating against the men Pohle and Hyndeman, now in custody. Officers Wilmot, Dean and Kennedy, who visited the scene of the murder, and have measured tracks, etc. of men along the railroad and near the scene of the murder, leave no doubt in their mind that these men were in the vicinity during the time of the murder. However, the men do not deny this, but state they can prove their innocence. Thus far, all the prisoners have said has been found true, but they are very reticent, and will not be interviewed. So far as the bloody clothing being found at a Dyer's in Allegheny, there is nothing in that that, will develop anything in regard to the murder. No murderer would be silly enough after all the excitement that was caused by his act to jeopardize himself by such an action. The theory of the clothes, is that some man that received a beating took them to be cleaned and dyed. Chief of Police Irwin now has the clothing which consists of a pair of pants and a coat, in his custody. There are no buttons missing from them, such as were found on the grounds of the murder. The Cleveland dispatch does not develop anything. It simply states that two men were captured there, but no one thinks here that they had anything to do with the murder, though they claimed that they committed a robbery in Pittsburgh. The officers are now trying to find out where the robbery was committed in this city that these men claim to be guilty of. The fact is, nothing as yet has been developed that would tend to prove who the guilty parties are. The authorities think, as do the citizens of Saltsburg, that the right men are in custody. That it will be proven so, remains to be seen. This morning officers go to Saltsburg and vicinity to subpœna witnesses for the hearing, which is to be held to-morrow morning at the Mayor's office at ten o'clock. So far the affair is still wrapt in mystery, but to-morrow may throw some additional light upon the matter and aid to bring the guilty parties to justice.

HAMPTON.

The Young Gentleman in Jail and the Detectives Deliberating.

The stereotyped answer to all questions put to interested parties concerning Mr. Hampton is that there is "nothing new in the case," and the young gentleman who was brought on from New York, serenely takes his meals in cell No. 3 on the ground floor of the county jail. It was generally supposed that his arrival in the city would be the occasion selected for a general clearing up of the mystery concerning "that robbery," but the parties who invited, and rather insisted upon his coming here, have not yet explained matters. There are countless theories afloat as to who Hampton is, or whether he is Hampton at all, or whether he is but a confederate of a gang, or an innocent victim of cruel suspicion, but none of the theories seem to have a satisfactorily substantial basis of fact. The authorities who are "managing the case" look wise; their wisdom—expressed in looks—is of the most excruciatingly profound and impressive type, and makes the observer wonder—if they will permit the paraphase—"how their small heads can carry all they know." The general impression, however, seems to be gaining ground that after all perhaps that box mystery, notwithstanding the presence of the blonde young man in Pittsburgh, is about as far from being "developed" as it was when the loss of the precious package was first made known.

Meanwhile the cheering assurance is given that "things are working" and that the finale of that "working" will be a thrillingly startling revelation. If it be thrilling in proportion to the time taken to "work it," it will certainly be a scalp-lifter. But we shall see.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

A Fruitless Session of the Commission on Government Buildings' Site.

Yesterday morning the Commissioners appointed to select a site for the proposed new Government buildings held another conference in the office of Mr. Thomas Steel, and spent a couple of hours in discussing the business before them, without, however, arriving at any definite conclusion, except the conclusion that they were not able to agree at that time. The meeting was held for the purpose of taking a vote upon the selection of some one of the sites proposed, but the Commissioners, the more they talked over it, the more became convinced that they were not quite ready. They adjourned about noon, to meet again next Wednerday.

LUTHERAN MISSIONS.

Meeting Last Evening.

Last evening a Missionary meeting in furtherance of the Lutheran Church was held in the Lutheran house of worship, on Seventh street. Devotional exercises were indulged in, and Rev. Mr. Wentzell, the pastor of the church, made an exhortation to his congregation, asking them to further the dissemination of Gospel truths and help the church. Rev. Dr. Passavant made a lengthy and eloquent speech, asking the people to build more Lutheran churches throughout the city, and thus aid the cause of Christianity. Mr. Laird also spoke. The meeting was quite large and very interesting, and no doubt will accomplish much good.

Dress Fashionably.

By dressing fashionably we do not mean that loud style of raiment which makes the wearer the observed of all observers, but rather the wearing of garments of a moderate tone in color, but well made and made to fit. Nothing so detracts from the appearance of a garment, no matter what is the character of the goods, than to have it ill fitting. The best way for gentlemen to avoid this, and to "dress fashionably" in the truest sense of the term, is to go to Mr. M. T. Heckert's, No. 47 North Diamond street, Allegheny, for their goods. Mr. Heckert has an assortment of goods that cannot be excelled in the two cities. It includes every variety of style and pattern now in wear. The goods are the finest in the market, and, as they were purchased by the firm as the latest spring styles and at very low rates, patrons of the house are sure of obtaining suits or single garments at the most reasonable prices. He employs the most artistic cutters and experienced workmen, and is enabled to guarantee perfect fit and satisfaction in all respects.

Our stock of Black Alpacas and Mohairs in all qualities is now complete, and we confidently recommend them to the public as being unsurpassed by any for color, lustre, durability and moderation in price.

A Pleasant Resort.

The pleasant smoking parlors of Mr. S. A. Barr, No. 132 Smithfield street, are quite a resort for gentlemen of an evening in search of a quiet social smoke. Mr. Barr has his parlors luxuriously fitted up, and nowhere in the country can a better stock of cigars and tobacco be found to select from. This gentleman has the exclusive agency in this city for a large Havana house, and their brands he makes a specialty. Mr. Barr is selling out his domestic cigars at very low figures, as he intends to close them out and keep nothing but genuine Havana cigars. His stock of chewing and smoking tobaccos and snuffs comprise every leading brand known in the market. The stock of meerschaum goods he keeps on hand are well worthy an examination. At Barr's, No. 132 Smithfield street, will be found everything that a smoker or chewer could wish for, and we advise our friends to patronize S. A. Barr.

Superseding all Others.

All the best builders and house carpenters now use, as the best balance of all, the Anderson Sash Balance, which is rapidly superseding all other balances for the purpose. It has been introduced in other cities, east and west, and hundreds of thousands are now in use. Its superiority is clearly manifest from the great demand which came from Chicago, after the fire there; when building operations were resumed thousands of the balances were used, and it was difficult to keep up the demand. So it has been everywhere wherever the Anderson has been introduced. Its great merits of simplicity and durability, and the fact that it can be applied to any kind of a window frame, make it popular, and have caused it to be ranked above all others.

Saladee's King of the Road.

This is the name of the new buck wagon introduced by those enterprising carriage and wagon builders, Messrs. C. West & Co., Nos. 75, 77 and 79 Liberty street. It is so vast superior to anything of the kind that has yet made its appearance that we doubt not it will meet with an extensive sale. It is light and strong, and the easiest riding buck wagon ever made. It is built with two perches, after the style of a buggy, and has equalizing links, thus doing away with the side motion incident to side spring vehicles. The King of the Road is warranted in every respect, and cannot fail to give the purchaser complete satisfaction.

THE YOUNGSTOWN MINERS.

The Strikers Weakening—Some of the Men Go to Work—The Efforts to Sustain the Strike—Outrages Against those Who Go to Work.

The latest intelligence from Youngstown indicates that the coal miners' strike, now in the seventh week, shows signs of an early termination. Many have left the Union and gone to work at the reduction, at Church Hill and Vienna Mines, where the Union is now the weakest. The number leaving it daily is large. Meetings were called last week to intimidate those who had gone, and others intending to. The meetings being a failure, printed notices were thickly posted Sunday night, threatening the lives and property of those who have gone to work, if they did not come out and follow the behest of the Union. Monday night one of the houses at the Vienna Mines, where several of those boarded who had gone to work, was attacked by the strikers in force, and the windows and doors broken in, when the mob was fired on by the occupants and dispersed. Fully half of the several thousand now out in the valley would be at work were they not deterred by threats.

Further news says that a gross outrage was committed Monday evening, at the Vienna coal-shaft, about a half mile east of Vienna Center, on the house of John Cannif, a coal miner, who had gone into the bank. At about half-past ten o'clock a number of men attacked his house with stones and clubs, breaking in the windows and doors, and putting himself and family in great peril from the missiles. One of his boarders fired at the attacking party, and they fled. Darkness prevented their being recognized. Cannif was one of about twenty old miners who went in on Friday. He and others had been threatened with injury if they went in. Some twenty miners who had agreed to go in were deterred by this outrage, and threats posted upon their gate-posts and houses.

WHAT IS VITALITY:

Science has not yet answered this conundrum. The principle of life, in spite of the researches of chemists, doctors and meta-physicians, remains unknown. We know, however, that when the blood is impure, the stomach inert, the bowels irregular, the liver disordered, or the nerves relaxed, this life sustaining principle, whatever it may be, is shorn of its active power, and that the body it animates languishes. We know, too, such of us as are capable of deriving knowledge from authenticated facts, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters correct impurities of the blood, invigorate the stomach, regulate the bowels, tone the liver and brace the nerves, thereby combatting and subduing the leading morbid conditions which tend to shorten life. The average time of human existence might unquestionably be greatly lengthened by judicious stimulation, especially in the decline of life, and this famous preparation is undoubtedly the most wholesome stimulant at present known.

The Constitutional Convention.

Further Discussion of the Judiciary Report.

[Special to the Telegraph.]
PHILADELPHIA, April 30, 1873.

The Convention was called to order by President Meredith at 10 o'clock. Mr. Kaine, of Fayette, chairman of the Committee on Commissions, Offices, Oaths of Office and Incompatibility of Office, presented a report, which was laid on the table.

The Convention went into Committee of the Whole on the Judiciary Report, General White, of Indiana, in the chair.

SECTION 2, being under consideration when the Convention adjourned yesterday afternoon, was taken up. The amendments proposed were withdrawn.

Judge Woodward offered the second section of his minority report, as follows:

Judges of all the above named Courts of record, and of such other Courts of record as the Legislature may establish, shall be appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; they shall be men of good moral character, learned in the law, who have attained the age of thirty years, and who have had at least five years' practice in some of the Courts of Record of this Commonwealth, the said Judges shall appoint the clerks for their respective Courts, exact adequate security for the faithful discharge of their duties, and appoint all the necessary criers and tipstaves; but it shall not be competent for the Legislature to impose upon said Judges the choice or election of any other officers, commissioners, inspectors, superintendents, or other agents, whether civil, municipal or corporate, not to assign to said Judges, or any of them, any extra-judicial duties whatever. Said Judges shall hold no office, whether Federal, State, municipal or corporate, nor receive fees, rewards, perquisites, emoluments or traveling expenses, while holding and exercising the office of Judge of aforesaid Courts.

The General Assembly may, for cause entered upon their journals, upon due notice and opportunity of defence, remove from office any judge, upon concurrence of three-fourths of all members elected to each House.

Associate Judges not learned in the law shall be continued upon the bench of Common Pleas until the expiration of their respective commissions, and thereafter said office shall be abolished.

Mr. Samuel A. Purviance, of Allegheny, renewed his amendment, as follows:

The Supreme Court shall consist of nine members; the State shall be divided into districts, Eastern, Middle and Western, as nearly equal in population as may be, in each of which three judges, to be elected, whose term of office shall be fifteen years, but who shall be ineligible to re-election; the Judges of each district shall sit in banc within their districts, commencing on the first Monday of December of each year, remaining in session until they have gone through with their respective lists, the decisions made in each district to be suspended until reviewed. The Judges of the three districts shall on the first Monday of May of each year, and as often as they may designate, at the seat of their Middle district, hold a court of review, in which opinions previously written, and before being promulgated, shall be reviewed and finally disposed of.

Until otherwise directed by law, the Eastern district shall be composed of the city of Philadelphia and the counties of Berks, Northampton, Lehigh, Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware. The Middle district of all other counties east of the Allegheny mountains. The Western district of all the counties west of the Allegheny mountains, including Somerset, Cambria, Clearfield, Elk and McKean.

Judge Woodward argued in favor of the main points in his section, and then read a written argument in favor of taking the office of Judge of Election from the people.

After discussing the question of suspension of rules in order to allow Mr. Woodward to conclude his remarks permission was granted by a vote of 79 yeas to 29 nays. The Convention then again went into Committee of the Whole and continued debate on the report until adjourned.

BONDS at Frankfort 95¾.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 42f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 116¾ @117¼.

THE Post quotes at us a long paragraph on what we presume it imagines to be "political economy." We notice our neighbor has very comprehensive ideas, as to the scope of this term. In its preface to the quotation, it apparently aims to say that said quotation is not funny. We did not need to be told that; but we are curious to know just what the quotation means. Will the Post explain?

GENERAL GARFIELD, of Ohio, does not find his course in regard to the back pay steal just as smooth as he anticipated it would be. One letter calls for another—he being quite unable to so explain the entire case as to satisfy his constituents. He is not so philosophical as some we think of. They know that their course on that question will seal their political career, and so take the money, on the principle of making hay while the sun shines.

SO MUCH has been said about the profuse and dishonest way in which the Board of Public Works, in the city of Washington, has spent the people's money, that it is gratifying to see by the report of Governor Cook to the Legislature, that in no case have the appropriations been exceeded, and that the expenditures made not only show in the improved appearance of the National Capital, but in the rapid advance in the price of real estate as well.

THE battle with the Modocs, of which we gave full particulars yesterday, proves that the savages are in force among the lava beds, and determined upon desperate resistance, and that their position is stronger than was generally supposed before. They cannot be taken by direct attack, except at a fearful loss of life, but may be killed off by shells. Comparatively little is really known as to the effect of the attack upon them, the presumption being that the only effective work was done by shells. The outlook of this Modoc war is anything but encouraging.

THE labor strike in New York is ended with a confession of defeat, on the part of the strikers. They found, what they were told, and ought to have known in advance, that they could not compel their employers to accede to their terms, and that public sympathy was not with them. They have adjourned further agitation for one year. The truth is, strikes in this country are a failure. There is no such occasion for them as exists in Europe, and they really favor unskilled workmen, at the expense of able mechanics. This whole system of strikes stands on an utterly rotten foundation. The absolute equalization of labor and pay, without reference to skill or ability, is as much a chimera as communism in France. It is just as feasible to make an equal division of property every Saturday night as to absolutely equalize the terms of labor. It cannot be done,—and competent workmen should understand that they are the mere tools of dishonest intriguers in all such matters.

THE PENNY POSTAL CARD system, while welcomed as a step toward cheap postage, is received with only qualified favor in several respects. In England, several slander suits have grown out of their use,—the public character of the card affording special facility for circulating libelous writing under the pretence of forwarding it to the person directly interested. This aside,—and the question is very pertinently asked, if the Government can afford to furnish the card, and carry it, for one cent, why can it not carry an envelope and letter of half an ounce weight for the same sum? To our mind, the question will be hard to answer. It is also intimated that the postal cards will be largely applied to unlooked for uses. Several business houses at the East, have each ordered several millions of these cards, and while it is not known just what use they will be put to, it is suspected that they are wanted for advertising purposes. The new system may be regarded as experimental, merely. If successful, penny postage on letters will follow.

IT IS now quite certain that the New York World will not be able to secure a following within the ranks of its own party, to say nothing of its chances to gain recruits from Republican ranks. Its party papers, even in States where free trade might be made a popular issue, object that the time has not yet come for its presentation as a party issue. Others denounce the policy outright, and affirm that whatsver abstract themes they may have on the subject, the condition of the national debt utterly precludes the idea of abandoning the tariff. This is the great fact which troubles the philosophers of free trade. The attempt is occasionally made to represent England as an absolute free trader, and yet able to manage a debt of nearly $4,000,000,000. Yet she has a custom revenue of $110,000,000 a year. But the list of her sources of revenue shows that a very large proportion of her yearly income is derived from sources which are prohibited by popular sentiment in this country. Thus from excise, she derives $180,500,000; stamps, $17,720,000; incomes $30,800,000. Thus there are items of direct taxation which, if now levied in this country, would cost the party doing it, its power. Even during the war there was considerable restiveness over the income tax; and as soon as the war was ended, the demand for its repeal became imperative and loud. Thus England, in the direct matter of statistics, affords no parallel for this country. We are pleased to notice that even in the west, the farmers are on their guard against this new movement. In this State, Democratic journals denounce it, and generally it is destined to prove a failure. Even where persons sincerely believe in free trade, they are not generally willing to become a tail for the Democratic kite. The World will be compelled to try some other theory.

WE DOUBT whether, within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, our streets were in a worse condition than they are to-day. The winter's accumulation of dirt, softened by continuous rains, now presents the appearance of a river of mud. During the winter, the work of repairing streets, laying water pipes, and the like, was continued, the effect being to prevent, in some portions of the city, any attempt at cleanliness. But where this difficulty did not exist, the streets still are in a horrible condition. Broken pavements, dirt and mud, are the distinguishing features of Smithfield and Liberty streets, and of many other parts of the city. Judging from appearances, the only care given our streets is that which Providence bestows. If we would not receive a visit from some epidemic, the sooner this condition of things is improved the better. At the present, we have every reason to expect a sickly summer. Fevers, at least, are very likely to be prevalent. Physicians say that there is a large amount of disease prevalent at this time. With the warm weather, which may be expected very shortly, the steaming vapors from our filthy streets will impregnate the air with disease, and do all that nature can, to disseminate sickness. But all else aside, it is a disgrace, that a city, so advantageously situated, should be so filthy. We have every natural advantage for the most perfect drainage. A swift flowing river skirts each side of the city, and in all directions the water can flow readily, so that not the slightest reason can exist for the failure to have cleanly streets. Yet New York, concerning which so much complaint is made, is a model of cleanliness as compared with Pittsburgh. We hope those having this department in charge will feel it their duty to see that the prominent streets, in the centre of the city, are cleansed, so that there may be some comfort in crossing and traveling on them.

WE HOPE the disposition on the part of one or two city papers to find mare's nests in everything they may not happen to understand in our city government, will find a proper rebuke, in the clear and satisfactory statements furnished relative to the railway bonds issued in behalf of the city. The statement of Colonel Phillips, given in detail, shows that he and others, comprising the Finance Committee of Councils, some twelve years ago, extricated the city from a dangerous financial situation. Judgments had been obtained against the city, and the stock it held in several railroads was sold at Marshal's sale. A compromise was effected subsequently with the creditors of the city, and so much of the stock as was saved, was purchased absolutely by Colonel Phillips, after it had been ascertained that no other purchaser could be found. After disposing of these stocks, and settling his notes, he found himself a gainer, to the amount of $33,000. This he presented to the city, of his own motion. Thus, after assuming heavy liabilities, to save the credit of the city, and devoting time and labor, influence and financial skill to the management of the obligations assumed, all of which entitled him to a handsome profit, he was satisfied to forego all, and bestow the profits on the city. This, with the sum saved to the city, made $125,000, which has since increased to $185,000, which sum, in bonds, is safely deposited, credited to the City Sinking Fund. This, in brief, is the entire story. It serves to point just this moral,—that a newspaper has no legal or moral right to throw a cloud of suspicion over reputable parties, because it may not happen to know the particulars of transactions which have covered years of time. If a proper effort is made to ascertain the facts in a case, where publicity is at all proper, it will generally be successful. But it is both cowardly and mean to neglect such proper effort, and in its place to insinuate financial irregularities against well-known citizens. The most cowardly of all criminals is he who stabs his victim in the back.

A NORMAL SCHOOL.

In our comments on the management of the High School, we took occasion to object, among other things, to the attempt to have a Normal Department in that Institution. This objection was not of the sweeping character of that of the Post, we think, that it would be as proper to educate for the law, or medicine, as for teachers. We simply objected on the ground that an efficient Normal Department cannot possibly be maintained where so much else is attempted as at the High School. Education is under the charge of the State, and hence the propriety of the State taking measures to have it as thorough and practical as possible. The law and medicine are professions not under the control of the State, and consequently those who propose to adopt them should meet the expense of the special studies required. The distinction between the two is too close and apparent to require more than the brief statement above given. It is obvious that if we would have effective teachers, not merely must we have persons suitably trained in the studies to be taught, but we must have those who are thoroughly conversant with the best methods of conveying instruction. There is as much difference between knowledge, technical or otherwise, and the ability to communicate that knowledge, as there is between the theory and practice of law or medicine. Yet before a person is permitted to practice medicine he must become practically acquainted with the anatomy of the human body, and with the practice of medicine, as illustrated in hospitals; and a law student is required to attend to the details of office practice, that he may learn to apply the theories taught. Yet the more delicate duties of teaching are often committed to persons who simply know the studies to be taught, but have never been trained in the methods of teaching. Some of these have a natural aptitude for their duties, and do remarkably well. Others merely keep up the droning recitals of the text, after the manner of twenty years ago. Better methods of communicating instruction have been discovered, and to impart this knowledge to those who are to be teachers is the object of a Normal School.

This should be a State Institution. Without its being under State control, a number of difficulties will arise, that will impair the efficiency of the institution. The law governing such an institution may compel attendance for a certain term of years. In the best institutions, from three to five years are spent in the several departments of a normal school. Local institutions of the kind are not apt to be as effective as these under State control. Generally speaking they are partial and incomplete. The best institutions of this character are divided into three departments,—Preparatory, Model, and Normal,—and where absolute efficiency is aimed at, each department has a separate building. The Preparatory school is designed to bring students forward, in the technical knowledge of the subjects usually taught in the Common Schools. From this they are promoted to the Normal School, where the theory of teaching, in its several phases, is thoroughly taught. The students, at the same time, are required to continue their studies of the text books, several subjects being added to the list of studies pursued in the Preparatory School.

The Model School is designed to afford the opportunity to put in practice the theories taught in the Normal School. In some States, the Model School is used for practice during the Normal course,—the students being sent there to practice at regular intervals. It is supplied with the most improved school furniture, and all the appliances for teaching, so that the best skill and the most modern inventions are brought into play, and the teachers familiarized with their use. They thus go out thoroughly familiarized with the theory and practice of teaching, and are prepared to be efficient at the outset.

This brief statement of the scope of an efficient Normal School, of itself shows how feeble is the High School imitation of one. It also points out the importance of a State institution, by means of which the system of school instruction will be the same in all parts of the Commonwealth. At the present, our cities are tolerably well cared for, while country sections are left to the old slip shod system of earlier times. We have a State Superintendent of Schools, and were we possessed of a Normal School equal to the necessities of the State, we might soon have an efficient public school system, working with uniform success in country and city.

The wonderful change that has come in the manner of communicating instruction is shown, partially, in the improved system of text-books, in the buildings provided, the appliances furnished, and particularly in the appeals that are made to the senses in what is termed the object system of teaching. The walls of a wooden school building are often quite handsomely ornamented with drawings, in colored crayons, of birds, beasts, flowers, trees, and the like. Outlines of States, portions of States, counties, or grand divisions of the globe are thus drawn, certain geometrical rules having been laid down to guide the pupil in his work. Thus quite a variety of studies is taught by a single and very agreeable process, and these studies are fixed in the memory permanently. This is but a single phase of object teaching. It swiftly and easily imparts to the pupil a knowledge of subjects, which, under the old system of teaching, was reached by a long and wearisome process of study, a portion of which was devoted to verbal memorizing. It is safe to say that, under existing systems, children can learn much more, with less labor, and learn it more thoroughly, than under the old system of teaching. Thus the improvements made tend to promote health and afford a more accurate and easily acquired education.

These things serve to show the importance of a school for the training of teachers. It is obvious that such a school, regarded as a mere adjunct of something else, can amount to nothing. We regard that at the High School as a mere waste of money and time. We should have a State institution, thoroughly organized and appointed, and prepared to keep abreast of the times, in all matters pertaining to instruction. The advance which has been made, is only the beginning of that which is to come. Other States are preparing, and we hope that Pennsylvania, so active in other matters, will be equal to the best in this.

BROWNSVILLE.

School Exhibition—Local Option—Fatal Assault in Huntsville.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BROWNSVILLE, PA., April 26, 1873.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

The Bridgeport Union School, under the efficient management of Principal Wilkenson, during the past school year, closed this week with two grand literary entertainments, given by the pupils of the school, assisted by several friends, on Thursday and Friday evenings. The exercises consisted of declamations, dialogues and tableaux, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. The performers acquitted themselves admirably. More than once during the exercises indications of the coming orator were visible, and with such musical talent engaged as that possessed by Messrs. Griggs and Delaney, and Miss Lizzie Wright, the entire programme could not do otherwise than render entire satisfaction. Of late years this very important branch of education has been sadly neglected in the Bridgeport Union School, and it is hoped that hereafter literary culture and public speaking will be recognized as among the essentials, and the commendable interest in literary attainments manifested by the pupils at the exhibitions, be not permitted to wane, but receive proper encouragement and development.

LOCAL OPTION.

Although "Fayette" gave a large majority "Against License," our saloons have not closed, and as heretofore many pedestrians are seen doing the serpentine through the "Neck." Where is the Temperance Association?

FATAL ASSAULT IN HUNTSVILLE.

Huntsville (in embryo), the newly laid out town on "Krepps' Bottom," was recently the scene of a fatal assault by the founder of the ville upon an unfortunate swine which had undoubtedly gone down there to select a "pork-corner." Whatever the object was it was suddenly frustrated by a well directed boulder from the hand of the only citizen who chanced to be on the ground; $8.00 and costs, settled by Huntsville.

IN Philadelphia, on Tuesday, the United States Circuit Court, pending the final hearing, denied a motion to dissolve the injunction restraining Theodore S. Williams and Crosby S. Noyes from selling or encumbering a tract of sixty-three thousand acres of land in Wyoming county, West Virginia, claimed by one Hermans.

GENERAL NEWS.

GOVERNOR DIX has signed the New York charter.

NEW YORK has a population of 43,000 to the square mile, and London 26,000.

A SHARP shock of earthquake is reported to have been felt at Doncaster, England, on Tuesday.

THE New York usury bill, as amended in the House, is to continue in force for two years from the 1st of July next.

WILLIAM S. SULLIVANT, a prominent citizen of Columbus, Ohio, died on Wednesday morning of pneumonia, aged seventy-two years.

A SANDWICH ISLAND letter of the 1st instant says that a number of shocks of earthquake were felt in the interior of the country, but no damage is reported.

THE boiler in Sloanaker, Howard & Co.'s saw mill in Philadelphia, exploded on Wednesday morning, killing Ezra E. Fancher, and wounding three others.

A WASHINGTON special says that the revenue from manufactured tobacco in ten months of the present fiscal year is only three hundred thousand dollars less than the entire receipts of the previous year, notwithstanding the reduced tax.

A RIO JANEIRO letter of the 4th inst. states that, owing to the late rains, a land slide was occasioned which threw down a massive stone wall on a building in the navy yard, instantly killing twenty workmen and wounding fifty others.

IN Great Britain at present 1,536 journals now appear, of which 1,174 (London) 285 were from England, 59 from Wales, 144 from Scotland, 140 from Ireland and 19 from the islands. Among these there are 86 daily journals in England, 2 in Wales, 12 in Scotland, 24 in Ireland, 2 in the islands—in all 126. The number of periodical magazines, including quarterlies, amounts to 640, of which 253 have a religious tendency.

A GUEST at the mansion—many other country it would be called the palace—of the late Samuel Colt, noticed that the gas was burning all over the house. Great chambers, unoccupied, large halls and stately corridors, were blazing like the day. "You are extravagant with your gas," said the stranger to the butler, who was showing him the house. "Perhaps so," was the reply; "but you see, the Colonel owns the gas works and we like to patronize him."

THE following anecdote has outlived its early youth, but it still reads well: John Phœnix tells the story that he was one day leaving San Francisco by the steamer. Everybody else was taking leave of friends—but he did not know a soul in the crowd. Ashamed of his loneliness, as the boat sheered off he called out in a loud voice, "Good-bye, Colonel!" and to his great delight, every man on the wharf took off his hat and shouted, "Colonel, good-bye!"

JERSEY CITY is chiefly known from its proximity to New York. It shines by reflected light. It sometimes, however, manages to acquire a fame all its own. Just at present the Board of Police Commissioners there is debating the question of appointing Mrs. Sarah Debant city physician. The appointment would certainly have the merit, if merit it be, of novelty, and, no doubt, Mrs. Debant, feeling herself the representatives of her sex, would perform the duties of her office well.

RAILROAD consolidation seems to be the order of the day in Great Britain as well as here, for it is stated that out of the 15,377 miles in that country at the end of 1871, 11,058 miles were owned or worked by only 15 companies, and the remaining 4,318 miles were in the hands of 95 companies. Three companies of the 15 together owned or worked 2,685 miles, and their joint capital amounted to $604,690,950, or more than a quarter of the total railway capital of England and Scotland.

ENGLAND spends annually nearly ten millions sterling upon her navy, France less than five, the United States under four, and Italy scarcely one and a half; but this parsimony is explained by the fact that the Italian naval establishment is in a frightful state of neglect. Considerable additions are now being made to the arsenals of Venice and Spezzia; a naval school has recently been opened at Genoa, and it is anticipated that within a few years the Italian navy will only be inferior to those of England and the United States.

EDWARD S. COX, writing to Nature, London, instances a curious case in which two sheep found their way home from London to the hills of Wales, whence large flocks of sheep are driven weekly from the Welsh hills to the London market. The two escaped in the dark and were supposed to have been stolen. About a fortnight afterwards the two stray sheep reappeared on the Welsh mountains, whence they had been brought. They had found their way through a journey of at least one hundred miles. The turnpike-gate keepers on the road witnessed that, when opening the gate at night to a traveler, two sheep had been seen to rush through.

PARIS is said to be again becoming a brilliant city. It is filling up with summer occupants, and the display of wealth and luxury is almost as great as it ever was, though it now proceeds more from foreign and less from French sources than formerly. The Champs Elysees and Bois de Boulogne are again lively with stylish equipages, the Boulevards are thronged, the shops are attractive, and, as much as possible, the sad memories of the siege and the Commune are buried. Paris, in spite of her misfortunes, is still the capital of the civilized world.

WHEN Prof. Agassiz visited Penekese Island to receive formally the deeds and other documents relating to the gift, there was a charming little dinner, and everybody made speeches and congratulated the happy Professor, who announced that he had named his new possession "The Anderson School of Natural History." He said that he has already been overwhelmed with applications for admission to the school from all parts of the country, even from California and Texas. He has had, indeed, fourteen applications in one day. It is almost decided that during the first season no pupils shall be taken save those who are teaching natural history.

THAT any woman should want to become Mrs. McOstrich proves her to have a very sincere devotion to the married state. This was, perhaps, taken into account by the Liverpool jury, which was called upon to assess the value of Miss Sarah Scott's disappointment at Mr. J. B. McOstrich's failure to marry her according to contract. Mr. J. B. McOstrich is a wine merchant, and his only reason for declining to share the burden of his name with the fair plaintiff, after 244 love letters had familiarized her nervous system to its horrors, was that he liked somebody else better. The jury concluded that Miss Scott wanted very much to get married, and that she had suffered from Mr. McOstrich's fickleness and love letters just £1,000 worth.

PERSONAL.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has created the old Catholic leader Professor Von Schulton a Privy Councillor.

MRS. BROWNING'S new poem is 4,500 lines long, and it takes an average of a day and a half to understand one line.

HON. JAS. G. BLAINE has been elected chairman of the Maine Republican State Committee for the fifteenth time.

RICHARD PETIT, a lawyer of Philadelphia, who was to have been married on Wednesday, shot himself Tuesday night.

RICHARD MOSELEY was arrested in Brooklyn, on Wednesday morning, on a charge of fatally beating Julia Gillum last Tuesday night.

THE Rev. W. H. Milburn, known to lecture audiences as the "blind preacher," is reported to have obtained a divorce from his wife.

THE richest newspaper man in the country is said to be J. Young Scammon, of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. He is worth about $5,000,000, but he didn't make it by journalism.

MR. SWINBURNE begins a recent poem, addressed to a dead king, with rather an abrupt line—as follows:

"Go down to hell. This end is good to see."

TWELVE HUNDRED butchers were entertained at tea in Mr. Spurgeon's tabernacle, London, on Easter Tuesday, after which they were addressed by the pastor and Rev. Mr. Cuff, "butcher and preacher."

IT ISN'T any wonder that it took half a dozen clergymen to christen the King of Saxony "Jean-Nepomucene-Marie-Joseph-Antoine-Xavier-Vincent-Louis-Gonzague-Francois-de-Paule-Stanislas-Bernard-Paul-Felix-Damans."

THE Indianapolis Journal calls for an appropriation by Congress for the widow of General Canby, whose life was so wholly devoted to the service of the Government as to leave him no opportunity for the accumulation of money.

A SOLDIER of the war of 1812, named Estes, died recently at Savoy, Mass., at the age of eighty-eight. He was an eccentric man, who never applied for a pension, and never rode upon a railroad in his life, and when elected to the Legislature declined to serve.

SENATOR SPRAGUE'S magnificent intentions in regard to the water privileges in South Carolina have resulted in his offering to sell out at cost. The Legislature agreed to spend $200,000 in building cotton mills on the Columbia Canal provided the Senator would contribute a like amount, but after a personal examination of the facilities he prefers to retreat.

THE executors of Thaddeus Stevens are looking after the lot in which his remains lie, in Shreiner's Cemetery, Lancaster, Pa., and a low wall of brown sandstone has been erected around it. The enclosure will be planted with flowers, of which Mr. Stevens was a great lover. The monument is a massive block of granite, and, with its terse inscription, testifying to his devotion in death to his principles in life, forms a fitting and characteristic memorial to the great man whose bones lie beneath. The grave is often visited by strangers.

HON. JAMES BROOKS, now lying ill, is affected by symptoms of an obscure disease known as leucocythœmia, or a superabundant development of the white corpuscles of the blood over the red. This conclusion was arrived at after an examination of the patient by eminent physicians of Norfolk, Va., and New York. To test the matter thoroughly, specimens of blood were recently taken from various parts of Mr. Brooks' body, and submitted to Dr. J. J. Woodward, of the U. S. Army Medical Museum. This gentleman subjected the specimens to examination under a most powerful microscope, and reports that the blood is in a disorganized condition, there being an unusual proportion of the white corpuscles, but not in sufficient quality to justify the designation of decided leucocythœmia.

MISS JULIANA B. CLARK, of York, Pa., recently forwarded President Grant a number of Revolutionary War trophies, originally the property of her father, Major Clark, who served during that war. The articles consist of a battle-flag, known as a "King's color," and a handsome sword, both captured by Major Clark from a British officer; a field glass carried by Major Clark, and a sword worn by Captain John Clark, father of the Major, who also served in the war. Accompanying the gift was a letter in which Miss Clark states that she "desires to place these highly prized and carefully guarded relics of the heroic age of American history in the custody of the Chief Magistrate of her country, in whose services she recognizes the patriotic devotion of one who successfully strove to save the national liberties and existence which her own ancestors fought to obtain."

BOSTON has been swallowing up the adjoining towns and cities with the double intention of increasing her population to metropolitan proportions, and overwhelming the Irish vote of the city wards by the suffrage of the true born Americans of the suburbs. In her greediness she has done more than she calculated on, and the suburbs bid fair to swallow Boston instead of being gulped down themselves. By the accession of Brooklyn, Charlestown, and West Roxbury, over thirteen thousand acres will come in, which must be lighted with gas, paved, sewered, and guarded by police at the general expense. Through the ward system they will have a powerful, if not controlling influence in the City Councils, and Bostonians proper are already beginning to feel that it is not desirable for cities to grow too rapidly.

A SPECIAL dispatch from Providence says that the mill operatives throughout Rhode Island will strike to-day for ten hours' work by the day or sixty per week. The movement is controlled by the Rhode Island branch of the New England Ten Hours' Association, numbering nearly thirty thousand members. The time table adopted by the organization provides for commencing work at 6:30 A. M., and allows forty-five minutes for dinner, and the stopping of the machinery at 6 P. M. for the first five days of the week, and closing work on Saturday at 12:45 P. M.

RUPTURE.

Every kind of Trusses for the cure of Rupture may be obtained at Dr. Keyser's establishment, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. It is a matter of the greatest consequence that all who are ruptured should be properly fitted with a suitable Truss, and one that will keep the ruptured parts in their place. Many persons do not know when they are ruptured, and frequently years are allowed to pass by before anything is done. This is a great error, and one that is often paid for at the expense of the person's life. Rupture is too serious an injury to be treated with lightness or neglect, especially when the means for its relief and cure are so easily obtained. Children and young persons are easily cured with the improved appliances which are constantly being added to the great variety which Dr. Keyser always has on hand.

Dr. Keyser's office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., from 10 A. M. until 1 P. M., and from 3 to 6, and on Saturdays at night.

Mrs. S. A. Wanner & Co.'s Sepia, a Water Color for the hair. Ladies and gentlemen are alike interested in this article, for they are all interested in their own personal appearance and adornment. Beauty will fade—the hair will turn gray—and we sometimes find ourselves approaching the "sere and yellow leaf" early in life. There is a dread of becoming old that cannot be overcome.
